HONG KONG (AP) — Two Americans told newsmen today they were captured by Communist Chinese fishermen eight days ago, held prisoner and questioned aboard their yacht and then released early this morning.

Timothy Allan Pierson, 24, Minneapolis, Minn., and Debra Christina Hinkle, 23, Santa Barbara, Calif., said they were taken into custody after they accidentally strayed into Communist waters. Pierson said they were not mistreated during their confinement.

Military
May Feel
Budget Cut

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's order for executive departments to cut spending an additional $3.5 billion appears to have supplied the impetus for a fresh congressional assault on military outlays.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he assumes military procurement will be the prime target of those determined to reduce spending.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana forecast in a separate interview the Senate will slice another $1 billion off a pending military authorization bill, already cut $2 billion below Nixon's estimates.

Mansfield cheered Nixon's action, saying "this will go a good part of the way toward bringing about a curb on inflation."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., vice chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said he welcomes Nixon's action as "a good start" but Congress should make additional reductions.

"I think the military, space and public works budgets can be reduced substantially," he said. "I don't suppose we can cut space much this year in view of the moon mission success."

"And the President will have to take the lead in reducing public works outlays," Proxmire added.

Nixon said in a statement Tuesday no federal program will be above scrutiny in the effort to trim spending back to the $192.9 billion target he set in April. He said there will have to be a further lowering of personnel ceilings.

The president said increases in public debt interest, Medicare, Social Security, public assistance and veterans benefits make action necessary.

He complained that Congress has done nothing about boosting postal rates, has increased aid for schools in federally-impacted areas and has not ended agriculture conservation programs as he recommended.

Sen. Charles P. Percy, R-Ill., said he thinks budget reductions should start with agriculture.

"The farmers in my state want more decisions made on the farm and fewer in Washington," he said. "They want gradual elimination of subsidies."

Courthouse Approved by
St. Francis

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — St. Francis County voters Tuesday approved constructing a new courthouse and a three-mill tax to finance its construction.

The vote for construction was 1,158-559, and the vote for the three-mill tax was 1,083-635.

The new courthouse will be erected on the spot where the present 1897 structure is located.

Living Costs
Rise Again,
U.S. Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's living costs jumped another six-tenths of one per cent in June with soaring food prices providing the biggest upward kick, the government reported today.

Housing, clothing, transportation, medical care and recreation costs combined with the big food increases to push the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index to 127.6.

This means it cost Americans $12.76 in June for every $10 worth of goods and services in the 1957-59 period, on which the index is based.

Grocery prices leaped 1.7 per cent in June, and food prices so far this year were climbing at a seven per cent annual rate—double last year's increase.

The biggest food price increases were on meats, poultry and fish, up 4.5 per cent in June.

This year's living cost increase is the highest in 18 years.

Poison Gas Policy to Be Reviewed

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials are predicting a top-level government review of U.S. gas warfare projects will lead to some policy changes and tighter supervision of the controversial program.

The military evaluation of the National Security Council study came after the Pentagon announced Tuesday that what it said was appreviusly planned removal of lethal chemical agents from Okinawa would be speeded up.

The Tuesday statement was the first time the government acknowledged placing gas weapons outside the United States. And the announcement came only after news disclosures that 23 U.S. soldiers and a civilian worker had been affected when a gas container sprung a leak July 8 at a U.S. base on Okinawa.

The Pentagon officials, in making their predictions about the NSC review, avoided giving any indication whether the removal of some nerve gases and other chemical weapons from Okinawa will result in pullbacks of such materials from other overseas bases.

The July 8 incident has sparked a speedup of the overall chemical warfare review ordered previously by President Nixon.

One of the reasons Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird recommended such a review, it was understood, was his discovery upon taking office six months ago that supervision over the chemical-biological-radiological warfare program was relatively loose.

ed, brought a $50 million payroll to the area, with the aerospace industry pumping in an additional $90 million annually.

Yacht clubs replaced decaying docks—by the most recent estimate there are more than 1,800 major power and sail craft moored in the area.

Contributing to the rosy economic picture and real estate boom is an ambitious residential-industrial complex, conceived before the discovery of NASA gold.

Developers say the Bayport industrial complex and seaport, now five years ahead of schedule, soon will produce more than $1 billion worth of goods annually, providing 25,000 new jobs. Bayport is a concentration of heavy industry, mostly chemical, which planners predict will include some $900 million in new manufacturing plants.

This elaborate complex, the sleek new residential subdivisions and the proximity of Houston give the community the chance to survive if NASA, its moon program once ended, dwindles in size and money.

"In the first place, we don't look for a total collapse of NASA," says John Turner, president of one of the major development enterprises.

"We don't think it will be taken away. We know it will be reduced . . . but a properly handled reduction would not be that serious to our area because of other industry and growth."

Others disagree, saying the community rose with NASA, is handcuffed to the space program and its collapse could be just as spectacular as its rise.

Prospect on Early ABM
Vote Is Dim

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of the Safeguard program have decided to set the stage for a showdown vote by bringing an amendment before the Senate to limit the missile defense system to research.

But sponsors of the amendment say the large number of senators wanting to speak on their proposal will make it impossible for a vote by next Tuesday, the previous target date for a showdown on the antiballistic missile—ABM—issue.

"I don't think that date is possible," said Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., who is cosponsor of the amendment along with
Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

The two senators conferred with Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield on strategy before deciding Tuesday night that they would call up their amendment today in slightly modified form.

Cooper and Hart said the revisions in their amendment are designed to make it clear that none of the funds may be used for any deployment or land acquisition at the 12 proposed Safeguard sites.

Sen. George B. Aiken, R-Vt., had criticized what he thought was vagueness in the original Hart-Cooper amendment, when he announced to the Senate he could not support the administration's Safeguard proposal.

By making the amendment
the Senate's pending business, Cooper and Hart hoped to focus debate on their specific proposal.

But how they fare could depend on Sen. Thomas J. Mc-Intyre, D-N.H., author of an amendment permitting deployment of Safeguard's radars and computers but not its missiles.
He might seek to substitute his amendment for the Hart-Cooper proposal in order to bring it to a vote first.

McIntyre's other option is to wait for the vote on Hart-Cooper, hoping it will fail so that he can offer his proposal.

The New Hampshire Democrat reaffirmed Tuesday his plans to press his proposal, distributing to reporters two recent newspaper editorials praising it.

"Why not hit it a couple of "Well, then, answer me one

Recruit Drop Blame on
'Draft End'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's promise to eliminate the draft, and other factors associated with the Vietnam war, caused the Army to miss its enlistments goal last year by 9,000 men.

The deficit and conclusion are reported by Army Recruiting Command officers who say they can't recall a year when the Army fared so badly in signing volunteers.

Army enlistments fell short of the recruiting command's objectives every month from November.

Army enlistments fell short of
the recruiting command's objectives every month from November through June, almost a traumatic failing for a command accustomed to success.

Figures just compiled for fiscal 1969 showed the Army persuaded 188,000 men to join up outside the draft, compared with an objective of 197,000. In the previous two years Army recruiters surpassed their annual goals by 8,000 and 9,000 men.

The Army isn't running short of bodies, of course, because there's always the draft to fall back on. But the situation prompted the recruiting command to pay close attention to what's been happening.

Col. Donald L. Roberts, chief of staff for the recruiting command, said in an interview that four factors combined to cause the severe drop:

— Richard M. Nixon pledged last fall that as President he would strive to establish an all-volunteer force, eliminating the draft when the Vietnam war is over.

"Immediately when that announcement was made, our recruiting went into a nose dive," Roberts said. But that wasn't all.

— The recruiting command suddenly found its seasoned recruiters were being grabbed up for administrative and leadership duties in Vietnam. Recruiters' strength fell by 500 to a low of 2,480.

— Dissatisfaction with the war left a bad taste with many young men who otherwise might have been susceptible to the persuasive powers of recruiters.

— Peace talks get under way in Paris, leading some young men to believe the war would soon be ending, after all, and maybe the selective Service System wouldn't be ringing their doorbells.

Hilltop Dr.
Paving Is Called for

The Board of City Directors on Tuesday, July 22, at 7:30 p.m. held its regular scheduled meeting. A public hearing was held on the petition to blacktop Hilltop Drive. No objections were heard.

No action was taken on the petition or other items on the agenda as a quorum was not present and probably a special meeting will be held this week so that action can be taken on the petition and several other items of business.

York, Pa., Calm After Outbreaks

YORK, Pa. (AP) — The city of York was calm for the first night in about a week as the National Guard joined police patrolling the streets in a heavy downpour of rain.

"I think the weather may have had something to do with it, but more than that I think armed vehicles helped keep things quiet," Jacob W. Hose, public safety director, said today.

One person has been killed and 50 have been injured in the violence and sniper firing that erupted last Thursday. City officials and Negro leaders disagree on whether it was racially triggered.

About 400 guardsmen from Scranton and Berwick in northeastern Pennsylvania pulled out in a heavy rain today for York, a city of 54,000 in the south central part of the state.
They joined state policemen and other guardsmen sent in Tuesday.

So far 57 persons have been arrested, most of them for firearms violations. Some also were arrested for violating a curfew imposed first by Mayor John Snyder and extended by Gov.
Raymond P. Shafer. The sale of guns, alcohol and gasoline also has been banned.

Dear Helen: I'm at the awkward age: Too old for employment and too young for Social Security; too old to get another husband, too young to climb up on the shelf. In other words: 57. What are we widows to do, except go on relief and stagnate? — E.B.

Dear E: I'm going to let other widows answer your question. I know many who have found jobs — AND husbands — at age 57 or older, but you'll believe it more when you hear it from them. — H.

Dear Helen: You tell us so often about the kindness of people — how they write letters by the thousands to those unfortunates you've mentioned in your column.

How do you explain this? My brother was injured two years ago in an automobile accident, and has been in a wheel chair ever since. He would have been graduated with his high school class this year. Instead he goes to a special school, for the use of his hands is also limited. He receives good grades — his mental capacity is not impaired.

Yet his former classmates do not come to see him, or even call. They did at first, for he was a popular boy and quite handsome (still is), but I think they're embarrassed to talk about the good times they are having when he can't share them. They don't realize he would be happy, just hearing about them, to try walking soon, but he would be so much encouraged by friends who care enough to visit. Therapy and schooling can go only so far. Then it takes PEOPLE.

I know there are others like him. Please Helen, won't you put my letter in your column so that they may be cheered by being remembered? How about making it "Visit a Shut-in" week? — OLDER SISTER

Dear Sister: I hope your brother's friends read and act! And this goes for all those other people who know a shut-in but have not visited him for a while. — H.

NOTE TO READERS: If you'd like to drop this boy — and perhaps a few more shut-ins — a line, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll send you his address.

Dear Helen: I could be mistaken, but I have an idea "Never Again" in last month's column was my husband. He described a "knocking around" that hasn't happened "just once" at our house! The black eye and bruises were weekly happenings — every time he got drunk and came home late. But he was right in saying it was the LAST time!

I finally decided to stop feeling sorry for myself and playing the role of poor suffering wife. The biggest step is to admit you made a mistake and your marriage has been a failure. Life isn't easy by yourself, but at least I have peace of mind. I feel as though I've been released from prison and my kids already show the benefit of a quiet home life.

Those great big crocodile tears "Never Again" shed to you are nothing but hangover blues. I'm glad you saw through them and asked some pointed questions. — DARN RIGHT IT'S NEVER AGAIN!

Dear Helen: What possible pleasure or satisfaction could an over-200 pound man get from beating up a 105-pound woman? Yet it happens time and again. I've lived in apartment houses in several states, and you'd be surprised how often the husband-wife fights become physical. Usually the poor wife at least 70 pounds lighter than her so-called man. Another question: Why do these women stay and take it? — OBSERVER

Dear Observer: Perhaps it's the old masochist-married-to-a sadist game. — H.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — A few years ago in Pontypridd, Wales, a young singer named Tom Jones was rather leisurely about pushing for the big time. "I waited four or five years to make a move. You know, when you're young you think you've got plenty of time."

Tom Jones is moving now. He's the hottest new star of the year. His television show on ABC is tied for No. 16 in the latest ratings and in personal appearances in this country he's breaking records. His income this year will exceed $2.4 million.

"It's happening here for me like it happened a few years ago in England," Jones said. "Only it's better because it's a bigger country."

At the Copacabana, women who looked like they might have swooned over Frank Sinatra in his youth climbed on tables and threatened to crush him. The same thing happened at the Flamingo in Las Vegas and this week he's at Framingham, Mass.

He will tape at least six shows for the new season in Hollywood beginning Aug. 26, then return to England.

"I always had it in the back of my mind that I would make it as a singer," Jones recalled. "I never bought a house. I never got seriously interested in a job."

"I lived in South Wales for most of my life. It's so far away from any recording studios that you have to get out to do anything. I was 23 before I went to London. I was waiting for someone to discover me," he said.

In fact, he was discovered belting out songs in a workingman's club by Gordon Mills, who is still managing his career. Mills booked him into more clubs and in 1965 he wrote a song called "It's Not Unusual." Jones recorded it and the rest, as they say, is show business history.

Tom Jones is hard to pin down as a singer. He has a booming voice, but there's a hoarseness to it that adds some appealing quality. He sings rhythm and blues and rock and ballads. His style is influenced by Muddy Waters, Big Bill Brumley, Jerry Lee Lewis and, of course, Elvis Presley.

He gyrates about as Presley does, more so on the stage than on television. "On the first Ed Sullivan show I did they told me to cool it. Not so many bumps and grinds," he said.

Three years ago in Australia, the police accused him of obscenity and took motion pictures of his act. "They couldn't find anything bad," Jones said.

"I get carried away when I sing," Jones said. "The words come out automatically. You get carried away with the audience. You go along with them."

Cotton Good Despite Dry Season

The Arkansas cotton crop still looks "real good," reports E.R. McInnes, officer in charge of the USDA cotton classing office, Consumer and Marketing Service, in Little Rock. Plants are mostly about knee-high, with some fields lapping the middles. Blooms and squares are quite common. Rains over the week-end were a much needed blessing. Cotton was not too hard pressed for moisture, but beans, hay, pasture, and other crops were in bad need of rain. Some where around one-fourth of the cottonland is irrigable, and the equipment has been going strong for the past couple of weeks. Chemicals have done a fine job of keeping fields clean of weeds and grass. Bollworms and bollweevils are present in a number of fields, but only a few farmers are finding it necessary to poison.

Through July 10, the Commodity Credit Corporation reports that Arkansas farmers pledged 288,432 bales of cotton to the CCC loan. Also through that date, notes covering 34,250 bales were reported repaid, leaving outstanding loans on 254,182 bales of Arkansas-grown cotton.

Only a very small volume of cotton is moving through Arkansas trade channels. Domestic mills are showing only slight interest in cotton. A few selections of Low Middling through Strict Low Middling 1-16 and 1-3-32 cotton sold recently, bringing farmers $2.00 to $3.00 equity per bale. Buyers' interest is restricted to cotton with premium mike readings. Inquiries for new crop cotton are few. Mills seem to have a "wait and see" attitude.

Weight of Telephone Set Is Cut

By trimming a mere ounce and a half from its standard telephone receiver, the Bell System expects an annual savings of 200 tons of strategic raw materials.

"Smaller and lighter than the current standard unit, the new receiver will be introduced in limited quantities next year," said Bill O'Neal, Wire Chief for Southwestern Bell.

Mr. O'Neal explained that Bell System engineers developed the lightweight unit by redesigning the magnet and structural parts of the present receiver unit in the Trimline telephone.

Western Electric, manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System, ultimately plans to produce 10,000,000 of the new units annually. When this rate is achieved, the new design will result in a yearly savings of some 85 tons of molybdenum, 49 tons of cobalt, 43 tons of nickel and 30 tons of copper. "Bell System engineers also devised an assembly method especially for the receiver which allows adjustment of the unit by computer," Mr. O'Neal noted. "This will assure both a precise product and few rejections."

Eventually the new receiver will become the standard for nearly all Bell System telephone sets including the "electronic" telephone proposed for the 1970's.

Healthy House Plants

The cleanest families are apt to have the healthiest house plants, according to horticulturists at New York Botanical Gardens. Humidity created by baths and showers makes the bathroom an ideal part-time storage place for plants to protect them from the dry, overheated atmosphere of today's homes.

The game of checkers is known as draughts in England.

Hope Star SPORTS

McLain to Throw 1st Pitch Today

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Denny McLain is flying back to the nation's capital to throw the first pitch in today's rescheduled All-Star game.

But President Nixon isn't. That set of circumstances came about Tuesday night when a storm that hit Washington in late afternoon forced postponement of the All-Star classic until 1:45 p.m., EDT, today, weather permitting.

The postponement cost the baseball brass who had put together a sensational two-day program of events in honor of the sports centennial celebration the ceremonial first-pitch services of Nixon.

Nixon left right after the postponement for Thursday's splashdown of Apollo 11 in the Pacific and was replaced by Vice President Agnew.

But while baseball had Agnew plach hitting for Nixon, McLain expects to be on hand when it's time to throw the actual first pitch before a sellout crowd of 45,000 and a national television audience that will be watching over NBC.

McLain flew out of Washington in his prop plane shortly after the President's Air Force One lifted off. The unpredictable rightlander returned to Detroit to keep an 8 a.m. dentist's appointment to have his teeth capped.

McLain said he would return in a jet after the dental work and should arrive at about 12:30, leaving him just over an hour's clearance to reach the ball park, suit up, take some warmups and step up on the mound.

While McLain's departure—and the fact he was stranded by the rain for about 1½ hours in the American League dugout—caused a stir in the AL dressing room, the postponement only created more enthusiasm for Ernie Banks in the National League dressing room.

The outstanding first baseman of the Chicago Cubs ran from player to player, yelling: "I want to play in the daytime anyway. Now we can play in the daytime. Isn't that great?"

Then turning to Willie Mays, he quipped: "Here we are two guys 39 years old and we'll be able to play in the daytime. You know—we'll be able to see the ball better in the daytime."

A daytime game was no certainty. The weather forecast for today called for showers later in the afternoon. An early rain that would delay the start would force the starting time back as late in the day as necessary.

No plans have been made beyond Wednesday. If the game cannot be played, then Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said the decision over whether to postpone the game to another date or cancel it would be made at that time.

The postponement Tuesday night was the first in All-Star history going back to 1933 and covering 39 previous games in which the National League built a 21-17 edge over the American League. One game ended in a tie.

Two previous games were halted by rain. The 1952 game in Philadelphia was shortened to five innings and the 1961 game in Boston was washed out after nine innings of a 1-1 tie.

McLain was scheduled to be opposed by Steve Carlton as the American League sought to end a six-game losing streak in All-Star action. They were counting heavily on a homer-hitting lineup that included Oakland's Reggie Jackson and Washington's Frank Howard.

Hill Leads Money Winning List

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Hill, whose victory last Sunday made him the year's first three-tournament winner and earned him $30,000, took over the lead Tuesday in the Professional Golfer's Association's money-winning list with $129,343.

Hill, whose victories have come in the last seven weeks, replaced Gene Littler, who was off the tour the last two weeks. Littler, who has won $104,996, had held first place since April 6.

Big College Passer May Quit Pros

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Ron Sellers, Florida State's unprecedented and unsigned pass receiver, may soon trade his football jersey for a business suit as a "hedge against starvation."

That's the word from Bill Basford Jr., lawyer-agent for the 6-foot-5 Jacksonville stringbean who gained more yards catching passes than any player in college history.

"It bugs Ron that he can't work a deal with Boston," Basford said. "They drafted him No. 1 and still won't make an acceptable offer."

The Patriots' head coach, Clive Rush, released a figure of $150,000 concerning the bid made to Sellers. Basford said his boy not only was offered "Well under $100,000" to play his first season but that "Boston refused to talk about a no-out contract."

"Sellers isn't an egotistical boy, but he feels his college accomplishments should earn him a couple of extra bucks. Being the top receiver of all time should give him a preferred bargaining position."

Is First Woman to Sail Ocean

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sharon Adams, nearing the end of a 6,000-mile voyage as the first woman to sail solo across the Pacific, has already made plans for another conquest—the Atlantic.

"But she wants to rest first," laughed her husband, Al, Tuesday by radio from a power boat accompanying Mrs. Adams to her final destination, San Diego.

"She's very tired and lost some weight," he said. "But I'm sure it won't be too long before she starts planning for a trip across the Atlantic."

Mrs. Adams, a 39-year-old mother of two from Mar Vista, Calif., is expected to reach San Diego Thursday night or Friday morning.

As of today, she has spent 73 days at sea since setting sail from Yokohama, Japan. In 1965, Mrs. Adams became the first woman to sail alone to Hawaii.

Adams said his wife is pinning for the arrival—putting finishing touches on a frilly pink dress she stitched during the crossing in her 31-foot ketch, Sea Sharp II.

"She said, 'I don't care how tired I am, I'm going to arrive like a lady,'" Adams said.

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — The Ottawa Rough Riders crushed the Saskatchewan Roughriders 39-8 in a Canadian Football League exhibition game Tuesday night.

Early Pro Gridder Got No Bonus

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Two cheeseburgers and eight beers. That's all Doug Atkins claims he got as a bonus for signing his first pro football contract.

"And I was a No. 1 draft choice, too," drawled the 6-foot-8 defensive end of the New Orleans Saints, who is launching his 17th year—a record—in the National Football League.

Atkins said as far as he's concerned holdout rookie O.J. Simpson, the 1968 Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, "is worth about $30,000 a year."

"It's ridiculous how they're spoiling college kids these days with these huge bonuses and no-cut contracts," snorted Atkins, who turned 39 in May.

Drafted by the Cleveland Browns after college stardom at Tennessee, Atkins says his first year's salary was $6,800 "and I had to hustle to keep from being out."

Atkins admits that any game—the next one, perhaps—could be his last. "I'm taking 'em one at a time. When I get by one, I'll start thinking about the next one. There's no way of knowing what's going to happen."

The terror of NFL quarterback backs for nearly two decades says he'll probably call it quits after this year. Previously he wouldn't talk about retirement.

"I just don't see how I can play next year," Atkins said. In 1968, before getting a hairline fracture of the tibia late in the season, he had the finest of many fine campaigns.

He made 13 unassisted tackles in one game, earning accolades as Defensive Player of the Week and was chosen to The Associated Press All-NFL second team.

Atkins checked into camp last weekend at 286 pounds—six above his normal playing weight. He was down to 282 today.

"I feel pretty good. It takes a little longer each year to get in shape and I'm sure I've lost a little," he said. "But I learn a little each year, so it all balances out."

If Atkins makes it through the first regular season game, against Vince Lombardi's Washington Redskins, he will surpass the NFL longevity record of 16 years he holds jointly with Sammy Baugh.

In all of modern pro football, only George Blanda and Lou Groza, who both limited themselves to kicking specialist duties in their vintage years, have played longer.

"It's incredible that Doug's still around," says Saints Coach Tom Fears. "You can't compare him with a quarterback because they don't take a beating like a defensive lineman does."

Says Papyrus Boat Really Seaworthy

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (AP) — Norwegian explorer Thor Heyerdahl says his unsuccessful attempt to sail from Africa to the New World in a papyrus boat still proved that Egyptians could have made the voyage thousands of years ago.

Heyerdahl and his six-man crew arrived in Barbados Tuesday aboard the yacht Shenandoah, three days after they abandoned their battered reed vessel, Ra, 600 miles short of their goal.

"I think we have made our point," the 55-year-old anthropologist said. "We sailed 2,700 miles before we deserted the Ra, and the shortest distance across the Atlantic from Africa to the Americas is 1,600 miles. In addition, none of us had previous experience sailing a papyrus reed craft."

"FOR ANCIENT Egyptians with thousands of years experience in this type of sailing it would have been a walkover," Heyerdahl said the decision to abandon the Ra was taken because continuing the voyage would have endangered the lives of the crew.

All-Star Game Is Rained Out

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball's finest hour turned out to be one of its darkest and dampest.

A jazz band with a red-haired, long-legged female trumpet player struck up Dixie tunes. Congressmen, ambassadors and other assorted VIPs belted cocktails and gorged themselves on barbecue and hamburger while young waiters and waitresses in the garb of the 1890s passed among them with a seemingly endless supply.

It was baseball's 100th birthday party, and it was a dilly. President Nixon had given a reception at the White House a few hours earlier and had told his cheering guests he planned to come out to the ball park and stay for the entire game.

"I never leave in the middle of anything," he said, telling of pressure from his advisers to get an early start for his Pacific rendezvous with the returning astronauts.

From the White House, baseball repaired to a huge, circus-like tent near Robert F. Kennedy Stadium for a pre-game whodding.

Then the rains came. It started out as a shower, then grew into a downpour and finally into a thunder-and-lightning cloudburst that turned happy celebrants into a soaked, disheveled, frustrated lot.

Few made it to the ball park where 45,000 were expected. The President, disappointed, had to grab his plane for the Pacific Coast.

Earlier, Lefty Grove, the old Philadelphia Athletics left-hander voted Monday one of the two greatest pitchers of all-time, had told a press conference:

"People keep asking what's wrong with baseball? The answer is 'nothing.'"

The pre-game party had been arranged for about 2,000 selected guests—Congressmen, government officials, baseball brass, the press, and friends. The crowd grew to a packed 3,000.

Guests were bused to the site from Capitol Hill and downtown hotels. Food and drink were plentiful. Spirits were gay. Waiters wore straw skimmers and had badges which said, "Happy Birthday, Baseball."

The water started pouring in buckets. Rivulets ran through the tent. Everybody got wet—and, at one stage, frightened.

"Everyone is asked to leave the tents immediately and go into the armory (the nearby D.C. Armory)," one of the authorities announced. "We are afraid the tent may collapse."

Joe DiMaggio, the former Yankee star, was among those caught in the deluge. His gray hair wet, his tailored-suit sopping wet, he ran, it is reported, for the armory.

Senators and representatives were also among those seeking shelter. Some of them queued up for DiMaggio's autograph.

Bowie Kuhn, the commissioner, came over and announced the game was off until Wednesday.

"It can't be the same," said one disappointed fan, expressing the sentiments of all.

Unknowns Get the Nod at Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Golf's new breed, the rising stars who are threatening to displace the established names of the game, may once again steal the spotlight in this week's $125,000 American Golf Classic.

Frank Beard one of the most consistent golfers on the tour and a man who has proven he can play the monster Firestone Country Club course, may be one of the top choices for the $25,000 first prize—but shuns the role.

"I'm still tired," Beard said Tuesday after a practice round on the 7,180 yard layout, "I may not be as bad as I was a week ago, but I'm tired. I've just been playing too much lately."

Tired or not, he won the Minnesota Classic two weeks ago and finished fifth just one stroke off the leaders' pace last week in the Philadelphia Classic.

That pushed him past $100,000 in earnings this year and put him in the third spot on the money list. And, so far as the course is concerned, a course most of the pros rank among the most demanding in the United States, he finished in a tie for the top after 72 holes last year before losing in a playoff.

He bowed out on the first extra hole while Jack Nicklaus and Lee Elder engaged in a dramatic five hole play off with Nicklaus finally winning it.

Big Jack, who isn't due until today, also will be among the top choices because of the length of the course if no other reason, but has had his troubles of late.

Arnold Palmer, another late arrival, hasn't won in more than a year but certainly will be among the gallery favorites when the 72-hole events gets started Thursday on the par 70 south course at Firestone.

Dave Hill, winner of last week's Philadelphia Classic and the hottest man on the tour, will be among the top candidates for the first prize—if he shows up. Tourney officials were not sure he'd make it Tuesday, though he said Sunday he would play. The controversial Hill is the year's leading money winner and has won three of the last four tournaments he has entered.

Bruce Crampton, a transplanted Australian who has been playing very well along with Charles Coody and long hitting Tom Weiskopf, also are among the favorites.

Others include U.S. Open Title holder Orville Moody, Lee Trevino, PGA champion Julius Boros and Masters champ George Archer.

Only a few of the top names are missing from the 144 man field. They include Cary Player, Bill Casper, British Open champ Tony Jacklin and New Zealand's Bob Charles.

He bowed out on the first extra hole while Jack Nicklaus and Lee Elder engaged in a dramatic five hole play off with Nicklaus finally winning it.

Big Jack, who isn't due until today, also will be among the top choices because of the length of the course if no other reason, but has had his troubles of late.

Arnold Palmer, another late arrival, hasn't won in more than a year but certainly will be among the gallery favorites when the 72-hole events gets started Thursday on the par 70 south course at Firestone.

Dave Hill, winner of last week's Philadelphia Classic and the hottest man on the tour, will be among the top candidates for the first prize—if he shows up. Tourney officials were not sure he'd make it Tuesday, though he said Sunday he would play. The controversial Hill is the year's leading money winner and has won three of the last four tournaments he has entered.

Bruce Crampton, a transplanted Australian who has been playing very well along with Charles Coody and long hitting Tom Weiskopf, also are among the favorites.

Others include U.S. Open Title holder Orville Moody, Lee Trevino, PGA champion Julius Boros and Masters champ George Archer.

Only a few of the top names are missing from the 144 man field. They include Cary Player, Bill Casper, British Open champ Tony Jacklin and New Zealand's Bob Charles.

CONNECTICUT co-captain Tony Casarella displays helmet decal which will be worn this fall by most college teams to help celebrate college football's 100th year.

Photos to Check on Fish Giants

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Marine creatures 10 times their normal size have been spotted twice by the crew of the research submarine Ben Franklin on her 30-day underwater mission to explore 1,200 miles of the Gulf Stream.

The six men aboard reported to their surface support ship via sonar telephone Tuesday that they had seen "eight blackfish 30 feet long."

Walter Muench, Director of the Ben Franklin mission for the Grumman Aerospace Corp., said at his West Palm Beach, Fla., headquarters, "We still find it hard to believe, but they say those fish were 30 feet long. We hope the underwater photos confirm this sighting when they surface."

Earlier in the mission, the men aboard the sub said they saw a medusa with tentacles 30 feet long and four inches thick.

Bruce Crampton, a transplanted Australian who has been playing very well along with Charles Coody and long hitting Tom Weiskopf, also are among the favorites.

Others include U.S. Open Title holder Orville Moody, Lee Trevino, PGA champion Julius Boros and Masters champ George Archer.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Director Hugh Hackler of the state Game and Fish Commission said Tuesday he did not know of any invitation from Colorado or British Columbia officials prior to hunting trips made to those areas by commission member Raymond Farries.

Hackler's remark came in his testimony Tuesday at Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's hearing for Farris, whom Rockefeller is attempting to remove from the commission.

The governor has charged Farris with 10 counts of misconduct in office and alleges these are grounds for ousting him from the commission.

One of the counts lodged by Rockefeller against Farris is that the commissioner used commission property to make a hunting trip to British Columbia.

The trips, according to the charges, were designed to be carried out "under the guise" that that they were being made by official invitation and for official purposes.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY:
The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.

1899 — Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude Mc-Corkle; converted to an evening daily by his son, Ed, McCorkle, 500 North McRae Street, Hope,
Arkansas, Date of death: June 30, 1969.

The opposition line:
1880 — Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers.
1883 — Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.

1883 — Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.
1884 — Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W.
Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.

1916 — Purkins & Gates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald
— but both papers suspended in 1922.

1926 — Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly
Hempstead County Review.
1927 — Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the morning Hope Daily Press.

1929 — C. E. Palmer and A.H.
Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.

1957 — Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.

1969 — With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president — balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The abandoning of thousands of damaged or old cars on city streets is increasingly disfigureing American cities. In 1968, The World Almanac
notes, New York City reported 30,000 derelict cars, an increase of 4,000 over 1967, while Philadelphia and Detroit reported 20,000 and 16,000 respectively in 1967.
Car blight extends to rural areas, where some of our 40 million junked vehicles rest in grotesque grave-yards.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Pill Has Filled Need Despite Adverse Effects

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

No scientific development in recent years has aroused as much controversy as the Pill. Since it is estimated that about eight million women of childbearing age, or about one in six, are taking the Pill, it has undoubtedly filled a real need and, until something better becomes available, it will continue to be used.

At present, it consists of a synthetic female hormone plus progesterin, a compound that resembles a hormone secreted during pregnancy.
As a result, the user is in a physiological state that simulates pregnancy and may suffer some of the side effects of pregnancy, such as nausea, fullness of the breasts and an increased retention of water in the tissues.

Adverse effects attributed to prolonged use of the Pill have included clotting in the blood vessels of the legs, thinning of the hair, nervous irritability, depression, headache, liver spots on the face (chloasma or the mask of pregnancy), a sensitivity to sunlight, Raynaud's disease and elevated blood pressure, to name a few.

The proportion of women taking the Pill who develop any of these conditions is very low and, in many cases, a direct causal relationship to the drug cannot be established. But the seriousness of some of these complications warrants close medical supervision. One study shows that serious clotting problems occur chiefly in women whose blood is type

A. In any case, a woman who is taking the Pill should have a periodic checkup and should report to her physician promptly if any unusual symptoms occur. Women who have breast or uterine cancer, clotting in the veins, migraine or diabetes should not take the Pill but should use some other method of contraception.

Since the Pill remains the most effective contraceptive yet devised, the danger must be weighed against those of becoming pregnant, which may also cause clotting, kidney damage, high blood pressure and headaches. Improved formulation of the drugs used is the constant aim of the manufacturers.
Perhaps the most promising new development is a ring pessary impregnated with medroxyprogesterone to be placed in the vagina five days after the onset of a menstrual period, kept in place 21 days, then discarded. If this proves to be effective, it will eliminate all the hazards now rightly or wrongly attributed to the Pill.

We are indebted to Frank pages of "Vital Tricks," published by George Coffin in 1937.

South is in a rather risky five-diamond contract but one that all of us would like to be in.

He ruffs the second heart and Analysis of the opening lead and Review of the bidding tells him that West is surely going to show up with the ace of clubs. If East held that card in addition to his good hearts, he would have opened the bidding.

A Count of winners and losers shows South that one club, plus six diamonds, plus four spades, represents 11 tricks but that he is likely to have trouble making four spades if spades and diamonds both fail to break.
Then he sees an extra chance in how can I make this contract?

He immediately leads a club toward dummy. West ducks but South plays the king and leads a second club to put East in with the queen.
East would do well to play a trump at this stage of the proceedings but he leads another heart. South is careful to ruff with the ace of trumps. Then he leads his five of trumps to dummy's eight, ruffs a club with the king of diamonds, enters dummy's last club with the queen of diamonds, leads his nine of diamonds to dummy's 10, pulls West's last trump with the jack while discarding his fourth spade, and makes the last tricks with high spades.

This play, which is known as a dummy reversal, had given him seven trump tricks instead of only six.

QUICK QUIZ

BLONDIE

Q—Which territorial possession calls itself "the place where America's day begins"?
A—Guam, the most westerly of American territories, is on the "tomorrow" side of the International Date Line. Thus it calls itself the place "where America's day begins."

Q—Do oysters move about?
A—No. The oyster has no foot and never moves after it becomes an adult.
